They are not to take into their hearts the lie that they are Elijah. Because we have listened to this voice instead of the voice from the throne, we have given ourselves over to deception just like Ahab did.

I believe Jesus was asking them to see the spiritual significance of John's story. Elijah was evidently a student of the prophecies, and from the writings of Moses Deuteronomy -17 he had learned that God had said that if the people should turn aside and worship other gods, he would shut up the heavens, so that there would be no rain. Elijah was not worried about his popularity, as many of the other prophets were and are today. They reproved the sins of the people from the least to the greatest, and were hated and persecuted for it.

While Elisha asks permission to kiss his parents, the actual farewell is not a need to confess your sin to him and beg him for a greater measure of the Holy Spirit. The people did not want to hear a prophetic word of judgment.
